

DIRECTIONS TO THE SYMPOSIUM

Stuart Country Day School of the Sacred Heart

1200 Stuart Road, Princeton, NJ 08540

To reach Stuart from north of Princeton: Take US Route 1 south to Washington Road (Mercer County Route 571). Turn right onto Washington Road and travel approximately 2 1/2 miles until Washington Road intersects Nassau Street in downtown Princeton. Turn left onto Nassau Street, go through town and bear left at the third traffic light, which is where Nassau Street joins into Route 206 south (also called Stockton Street) heading toward Lawrenceville and Trenton. At the second traffic light on Route 206 south, turn right onto Elm Road (which later becomes the Great Road) for about three miles. Stuart Road is on the right. Turn right onto Stuart Road and right again into the school driveway. Continue on to park in the terraced parking lots. Signs will direct you to the main entrance and the Symposium.

To reach Stuart from south of Princeton: Take US Route 1 north to Washington Road (Mercer County Route 571). Turn left, using jug handle, onto Washington Road and follow the directions above through downtown Princeton to Stuart. Or, take Interstate Route 95 north to Route 206 north, toward Princeton. Travel about five miles and turn left on Elm Road at a traffic light and follow the above directions to Stuart Road and the school driveway. Park in the terraced parking lots. Signs will direct you to the main entrance and the Symposium.

We always encourage car-pooling.
